

Introduction

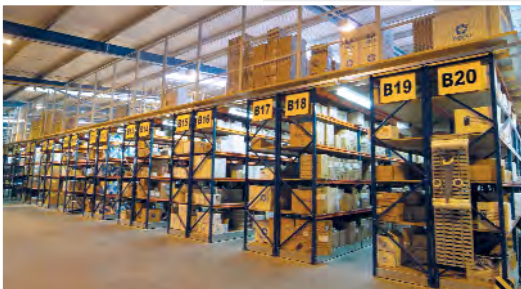

International Plastic Systems is one of the United Kingdom's leading independent suppliers of industrial thermoplastic piping systems. We are proud to represent the world's leading manufacturers of pipes, fittings, valves, support systems, tools and installation and welding equipment.

You will find that our people are experienced, highly trained and can offer free, unbiased advice on the selection of materials specific to your application. We can give you the benefit of our experience gained over many years in the industry, combined with decades of in-depth knowledge from our partners worldwide. The knowledge that we can bring to your project can be a major advantage.

Sophisticated and extensive stock management systems coupled with exceptional worldwide logistics, helps to ensure that lead times are minimised. We can provide export packing and documentation, customer specific paperwork, as well as bespoke packaging and delivery schedules to match your requirements.

We publish our Piping Systems Handbook on an annual basis. In this unique reference book, you will find comprehensive details of our supply range in a fully priced easy to use format. In addition, we produce regular newsletters that feature new products and developments from our supplying partners. If you would like to be included on our mailing list, please contact us:
